Bulletdodge Records:

Bulletdodge proudly welcome Arnaud Le Texier back to the label for BDR043, this time with an excellent EP, named "Bullet EP". The EP consists of three strong original tracks and a superb remix from Mark Reeve.

There's a distinguishing Detroit feel prevalent throughout the E.P. and this is certainly apparent in the first track, "Mighty Chord". Mighty Chord is a storming deep tech monster, built from rattling, dubby stabs, soft pads and a pulsing bass.

Contributing a stunning interpretation, visionary producer, Mark Reeve secures much of the original's energy and manages to add a substantial amount of groove based tech-house flavour.

Next we have "Yepa", an opening outburst of astounding rhythms and fx gives way to a Detroit influenced arpeggio that leads into a fittingly performed breakdown.

Closing track, "Untitled Bullet", strides further into deep techno territory with a subtle bassline and clipped drum machines. A very nicely arranged piece, the track grooves and swings its way to a thoughtful breakdown before winding down with a DJ-friendly outro.

Supported so far by: Michel de Hey, Steve Rachmad, Dave Seaman, Nick Curly, Mauro Picotto, Darko Esser, X-Pres 2, John Digweed, Richie Hawtin, Joseph Capriati, Danny Howells, DJ Hell, Slam, Raresh, Marco Bailey, Dan Curtin, Terry Francis, Stacey Pullen, Pig & Dan, Kaiserdisco, Guy J, Alan Fitzpatrick, Hector Romero, Laurent Garnier and Stephan Bodzin plus many more
